

Congratulations 2016-2017 Teachers' Choice Recipients!

December 5, 2016

This school year, 36 educators at 14 Rochester schools will receive books for their students through Teachers' Choice. The books will be used in a variety of creative literacy projects. From stories told by Humphrey, the class hamster, to a collection of novels by Deaf authors, educators will use the books to introduce students to topics like friendship, community, and different cultures. This year, in particular, with support from the Ames Amzalak Memorial Trust and the Wilson Foundation, educators are receiving books that tackle civic engagement issues. Once the books have been used in the classroom, the educators will send them home with their students.

Educators to receive books in 2016-17 are:

Windsor Asamoah-Wade and Diane Mohny, School Without Walls

Kimberly Buonomo, Francis Parker School No. 23

Amanda Burke, Adlai E. Stevenson School No. 29

Vicki Casarett, Mariellen Schiano, Charles Avino, and Joseph Appleby, East Upper School

Janice Daitz, Nathaniel Hawthorne School No. 25

Jackie Ehnot, PUC Achieve Charter School

Kristin Fulmer, Lauren Piampiano, and Sisi Chen, Urban Choice Charter School

Jill Harris, Caroline Carello, Gregory Kunzer, Francis Parker School No. 23

Sarah Howell and Danielle Fagnan, Urban Choice Charter School

Amy Martin, World of Inquiry School No. 58

Marsha O'Leary, Urban Choice Charter School

Joanne Seeley, Christina Pelletier, Laura Lucyshyn, April Snyder, Katie Sweet, and Julianne Wise, RIA

Tammy Shaw, RCSD, Regina Catalino, School No. 41,

Katie Williams and Amy Richards, Nathaniel Rochester School No. 3

Mary Anna Smith, Adlai E. Stevenson School No. 29

Katherine Wardlow, Sarah Remelt and Erin Frawley, East High School

Kristin Wegman, Henry Hudson School No. 28

Katie Williams, Nathaniel Rochester School No. 3

###